Jian Feng

To: Hiring Manager

I am drawn to Rundoo because you are tackling a massive, deeply unsexy problem—digitizing legacy operations for independent building material suppliers—with a pragmatic, full-stack product approach rather than superficial hype. From this role, I want to gain hands-on experience owning end-to-end features in a fast-paced environment, building high-performance Go and TypeScript systems that directly remove friction for real-world businesses, while working alongside a tight-knit engineering team where every line of code immediately moves the needle.

Sincerely,
Jian Feng
